

OUR IMPACT

Moving Traditions strengthens Jewish youth through three core Jewish values at the heart of our work—personal wholeness (shleimut), caring connections (hesed), and the pursuit of justice (tzedek)—that are infused into our programs:

The Moving Traditions B-Mitzvah Family Education Program supports preteens and parents when they need it most. We make Jewish preteen family education the norm, bringing meaningful conversations about becoming a teen to more Jewish families and communities.

Teen Groups—Rosh Hodesh, Shevet, and Tzelem are a lifeline for teens facing social isolation and mental health struggles. We help stabilize teens' wellbeing and help them reconnect to themselves, their peers, and Jewish life.

Kol Koleinu—Teen Feminist Fellowship empowers teen feminists to pursue social justice. Fellows grow their leadership and engage other Jewish teens in making lasting social change.

HOW WE DO IT

We inspire Jewish educators and clergy with high-quality, adaptable, responsive programs and curricula to meet the ever-evolving needs of Jewish youth and their parents, both online and in-person.

Moving forward, as a result: teens, families, and communities will be stronger, with Jewish communities demonstrating their value.

Moving Traditions will bring meaningful and connecting Jewish experiences to more preteens, teens, and their families across North America.

STRENGTHENING JEWISH COMMUNITIES

Moving Traditions' research shows that when we embolden preteens and teens, engage families, and strengthen Jewish educators, we build stronger, more resilient Jewish people and Jewish communities.

In a time when more families are disconnecting from Jewish life and institutions, we are showing that meaningful Jewish experiences have the power to inspire connection.

With more than 200 partner communities across North America, Moving Traditions is helping more Jewish preteens and teens grow into adulthood with confidence, compassion, and a lifelong commitment to Jewish community.
